

Developing supplier diversity professionals and stakeholders for the future!

About

The Supplier Diversity Training Institute (SDTI) is a professional development and networking organization for supplier diversity professionals, practitioners and stakeholders.

SDTI provides education, thought leadership, networking and training opportunities to executives in supplier diversity, procurement, community engagement and DEI from Fortune 500 corporations, government agencies and local/state government and institutions.

We are led by three guiding principles:

EDUCATE

Educate professionals and practitioners on strategies to build an effective and impactful supplier diversity program.

EMPOWER

Empower professionals and practitioners to manage supplier diversity as part of its organizational strategy rather than an optional and dispensable initiative.

ELEVATE

Elevate the professionalism and expertise of supplier diversity professionals to deliver strategic value to organizations while continuing to elevate the professional standards of the industry

Trainings Offered

SDTI offers a variety of relevant training to provide the tools and information needed for today's supplier diversity managers and supply chain professionals to strengthen their supplier diversity knowledge and proficiency, build an effective supplier diversity program, improve their existing supplier diversity program and/or create a stronger alignment to their organizational strategy.
